The Generative Print

January 31-February 2, Timothy Berry $266/332, All Levels

Explore the ideas inherent in the concepts of the generative print. Combining the print methodologies of drypoint and monoprint/monotype, students will create original prints which will then be re-engaged through hand painting and drawing, then re-engaged again through the monoprint and monotype processes, until final one-of-a-kind pieces are achieved.

Art, Mind & Nature

March 16-20, Jeremy Morgan $495/619, All Levels

Jeremy Morgan will help artists recognize the unique possibilities that painting allows - fusing consciousness, materials, and techniques together, in order to visually communicate the seemingly invisible with the optical. Students are simply required to think about how, what, and why they paint - and to be open to experimenting. Pair this workshop with all four of Morgan's Processes of Drawing classes, working from both models and still life (March 16-19, see Drawing inside the catalog) for $575/719.

Glass Torching Workshops & Fun for All

April 16-18, Kylee Koenig $250/275, All Levels

Come and watch things get heated up as Kylie Koenig torches beautiful glass pieces and offers workshops for all ages. From glass marbles to pendants and torching techniques, there's something for everyone. See specific workshops under Wood, Wax & Glass inside the catalog.

Blue Fox Pottery: Demo Sponsored by The Teton MudPots and Dowd House Studios

May 2, Tony Ivie $65/81, All Levels

Join Tony Ivie as he creates and carves his own stamps to decorate distinct forms. His decoration extends to raku firing, and Tony will show how he prepares and fires porcelain pots for raku. He'll also share his inspirations, world travels, and experiences as a gallery owner in Star Valley.

Luscious Pots Sponsored by The Teton MudPots and Dowd House Studios

June 6-7, Michael Lemke $175/218, Levels 2-3

Potter and professor Michael Lemke will concentrate on demonstrating wheel-thrown porcelain and slip decoration techniques on leather hard clay. Michael will work directly with wheel-thrown forms that are then pushed, pulled, cut, altered and re-assembled. Learn how to add personality to your pots through details in this hands-on workshop.

Polish Your Skills

June 26-28, Susan M. Rose $240/300, Levels 2-3

Polish your skills in this two-day plein air painting workshop. Get a review of basics, easy-to-do exercises, demonstrations, one-on-one assistance, and critiques. Come prepared to learn simple ways to organize your composition, values structure and how to focus your intent. Weather permitting, we will be painting iconic views in Grand Teton National Park.
